If you need your delivery faster, then we will try to arrange this for you. Make a note in the shipping notes, call our store +61 (07) 40 995 470 or email fiona@ozaboutoz.com If we don't have the item in stock, we'll contact you to let you know when the next one will be available. Didgeridoos & crocodile skulls If you are also interested in purchasing, please contact us before ordering these items, these will be shipped via a combination of volume and weight. With crocodile skulls, shipping needs a CITES licence internationally. Delivery time throughout Australia The delivery time depends on where you live. Since our store is headquartered in Port Douglas, it takes a little longer to reach you, as we are considered a regional area. We work with Shippit for Australia wide orders and in most cases your package will be delivered by Fastway Couriers. In those cases, where Fastway does not deliver, we will switch to Australia Post Express Post. How Shippit works When your order is on the way, you will be notified by email and sms and you will monitor the progress of your goodies in real time, from our store to your door. Shippit also gives you the freedom to change your delivery details or redirect your package, so you can plan your day with peace of mind. To track the progress of your order: Follow your package of International deliveries For international orders you choose your package delivered through Australia Post or DHL. Shipping costs are based on packaging, total weight, cubic size of your order and destination. Australia Post Economy Air Mail: it's cheap, but it's also the slowest way to post and you don't follow your package. Australia Post says to have at least 12 business days before delivery. If you live outside a metropolitan area, leave even longer. Standard Air Mail: Tracking is available for most countries. Australia Post estimates at least 8 working days for package to come. If you live outside a metropolitan area, it will take longer. Express International Post: tracking is available for most countries. Australia Post estimates at least 5 working days for you to arrive. If you live outside a metropolitan area, it will take longer. Where's my package? All sorts of things can stop a delivery; customs delays, incorrect delivery address, local transport problems, time of year for example Christmas, major events such as extreme weather, even postal strikes. The estimated arrival for each of the shipping options is exactly that, an estimate. Australia Post cannot guarantee when your package will arrive (and neither will we, Oz Over Oz). We'll send an email to your serial number (for Standard Air Mail or Express International Post) so you can check the progress of your package. DHL Milestone tracking is available to you. Further updates can also be obtained directly on the destination post website as well. Follow your Points package to mark customs If you live outside Australia, customs duties, foreign taxes or other charges are your responsibility. If you refuse to pay applicable duties and taxes, it is up to you to arrange for your order to be returned to us only to receive a refund of the order. It is therefore a good idea to get in touch with your local customs office to find out if your order will incur costs, delays or even confiscation before you complete your purchase. We are required in accordance with Australian export regulations to declare the exact value and identify the order as dutiful goods. We are protected by the law from identifying an order as a gift. About 5% of packages are stopped at customs for inspection. While we will do everything we can to pack your order, if it is stopped at customs, they will open the package and we cannot guarantee how it will be repackaged. Other When a package that cannot be delivered and is therefore returned to us, we will let you know via email and we will refund your order minus shipping deductions. For change of mind returns, we will not refund shipping costs, only the price of the returned goods will be refunded. See our returns page for more information. When your package is received, you open it with care. We are not liable for items that have been damaged during the opening of your package. Oz Over Oz accepts no responsibility for shipping times and we will not refund items that arrive later than required.
